Test for the Best Ivory.

There is a fact but little known which well illustrates the ravages rats can inflict on a hard substance by their little, sharp teeth. Many of the elephants' tusks imported into London are found to have their surfaces grooved into small furrows of unequal length and depth, as though cut out by a very sharp edged instrument. No man would take the trouble to do this so carefully, but the rat has found out the tusks which contain the most gelatine—a most delicious morsel for his palate—and he gnaws away as much as suits him and leaves the rest for the ivory worker, who is neither unable nor unwilling to profit by the fact marked by the rat's teeth. The ivory which contains a large amount of gelatine is softer and more elastic than that which does not, and as elasticity is the thing needful for billiard balls, he selects this rat-gnawed ivory, and turns it into beautiful elastic spheres, to be used upon the finest billiard tables. The elasticity of some of these balls is so great that, when thrown forcibly on a hard floor, they will rebound to the height of three or four feet. —Boston Herald.

A Government Clerk's Penmanship.

The most accomplished penwoman or penman among the 15,000 and more government clerks is Mrs. Helen M. Avery, of the interior department. Her chirography is a model of uniformity and clearness. She is also a clever pen and ink artist. A head of Tasso drawn by her a few years ago is said by connoisseurs to be equal to the finest steel engraving. She does her work rapidly, and apparently without effort. Her duties occupy about two hours a day. The rest of the time she occupies as she chooses. Her position in the department is supposed to be as near an approach to a life tenure as the most successful government employe can hope to obtain. Her salary is $1,600 per annum.—Boston Transcript.

The Englishman's Way.

The English take their pleasures sadly," somebody remarked once, and the saying has passed into a proverb which the English themselves appear to accept. I think it is very untrue. It is like Sydney Smith's libel on the Scottish race. It requires no surgical operation to get a joke into a Scotchman's head. He may not roar till the hills echo, nor shoot a person who will not laugh with him, as they do in Texas, but his quiet enjoyment of a good joke is none the less appreciative on that account. I am beginning to think that the English know how to enjoy themselves better than almost any other nation. An Englishman doesn't make an exhibition of his enjoyment.—Luke Sharp in Detroit Free Press.

Deservedly popular. We mean Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup for it never fails to cure a cough. Only 25 cts.

Don't take it!—If a dealer offers you a bottle of Salvation Oil without labels, or wrappers, insist upon getting a perfect, unbroken package. 25 cts.

DYNAMITE!

Will Avenge the Wrongs on Ireland if the British Pass the Coercion Bill.

NEW YORK, March 28.—The Tribune says: "The proclamation by Judge Fitzgerald, president of the Irish National league of America, published yesterday, ostensibly an appeal for money to help along the Parnellite mode of warfare, is thought by many to be really a call to arms and a distinct threat that preparations will be made on a large scale to carry out the work of dynamite explosions, which was the order of the day two years ago in London and other large centres of English population. If Irish sentiment, both here and at Brooklyn, is to be believed, there will soon be the beginning of a time of 'blood and thunder' in England, should the coercion act be passed by parliament. The English advanced Irish nationilists met last evening at the house of Wm. J. Knoud. Mr. Knoud presided. He said 'that while Parnell may be an able man his usefulness has reached its limit, and the work of the Irish nationalists henceforth must be revolution with dynamite or other force that will help to paralyze the oppressors of onr county (applause). We will fight England with dynamite, posion, knives, fire and every weapon the ingenuity of man can devise, if, of cource, the coercion bill be passed. Do you know that this continued persecution of Ireland has made dynamiters of moderate men?'"

A BIG FIRE.

Memphis Visited by a Very Disastrous Conflagration.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 28.—A fire which originated in the cellar of I. Beshhoff & Co.'s second hand furniture store, 195 Main street, destroyed that building with Ulathom & Co.'s seed store, Wm. Quinn's boarding house and saloon and Jas. Currey's Tivoli Garden, valued at about $35,000. The stocks of goods are placed at $15,000. There were many narrow escapes by inmates who occupied the upper stories.

THE ANARCHISTS!

Give the Columbus Mayor Their Opinion on Free Speech and Its Privileges.

NEW YORK, March 28.—"Not as wild anarchists, but as peaceable workingmen protecting the right of free speech and free assembly," said the Central Labor union, in Clarendon hall, yesterday afternoon, when it endorsed a series of resolutions presented by the miscellaneous trades section, in which it protested against the refusal of Mayor Wolcott, of Columbus, Ohio, to permit Mrs. Parsons the right of free speech when she intended to publicly defend her husband and the other men in prison in Chicago. A copy of the resolution will be sent to the Columbus Trades assembly.

A CAVE-IN.

The Surface of the Delaware & Hudson Mines Settles Four Feet.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., March 28.—A cave-in occurred over the workings of the Delaware & Hudson company's mines, last night, and the ground settled about four feet. Several pieces of property in the vicinity were greatly damaged. Cracks eighteen inches in width can be seen on the surface and there are indications that there will be another and more serious cave-in before many days. The wells in the vicinity of the accident are reported dry this morning.

A New Chicago Convention Called for.

CHICAGO, March 28.—Henry Stuckart, candidate for city clerk on the democratic ticket, has followed the lead of Mayor Harrison and McAvoy and declines to accept the nomination tendered to him. He demands a new convention to be called and it is claimed this will be done and a new ticket placed in the field.

At a joint meeting of the democratic county and city commissioners a resolution was adopted calling a convention Tuesday to nominate a new ticket, the convention to be composed of the same delegates who a week ago nominated Harrison, McAvoy and Struckart.

The committee of twenty-five of the united labor party has decided to make no fusion with the democracy, but to consider the republican ticket as the only opposition to be encountered.

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 28.—The carpenters working on the Cotton exchange building have struck for nine hours.

PRISON FIRE.

The Work Shop Buildings Inside the Jackson Prison Walls Burned Down.

JACKSON, March 28.—Fire was discovered in the four-story building inside the prison walls at 10 o'clock last night, used by the Webster contract for a paint shop. It is supposed to have originated by spontaneous combustion. The building was completely destroyed with all its contents. The north end of the long two-story building on the west side was also nearly destroyed. As soon as the fire was discovered extra guards were placed inside the cell blocks and every precaution taken to prevent a stampede of prisoners. They, however, remained quiet, very few leaving their bunks. It is impossible to estimate the damage yet.

Sparks from the prison fire caught in the old cattle and sheep sheds on the fair ground, and all on the north side of the grounds burned. They were mostly old, dilapidated structures and the damage was slight.

A block of frame buildings at Avoca, N. Y., valued at $75,000, were early yesterday morning destroyed by fire.

JANESVILLE, Wis., March 28.—T. N. Williamson, secretary Wisconsin Shoe company in this city, has been arrested for embezzlement. The amount which he is accused of taking is about $8.000, but it is understood that nearly $60.000 has been stolen from the company by some one within the past few years, and sensational developments are expected.

The Sunday Law Enforced.

INDIANAPOLIS, March 28.—Only one saloon man attempted to violate the law and he was arrested twice by the police who watched every grog shop.

FIRE AT WABASH.

The Tremont House Entirely Destroyed —Narrow Escape of the Guests.

WABASH, March 28.—At an early hour yesterday morning the Tremont hotel, a three story substantial brick structure, was totally destroyed by fire. The flames originated in a sitting room occupied by the servant girls. The inmates had barely time to escape with their lives, so rapid was the progress of the flames, In ten minutes the fire swept through the building. A portion of the furniture was saved with difficulty. Several of the guests escaped by ladders, as egress was cut off below.

Calvin Zell, of the firm of Gibson & Company, Walnut street, Cincinnati, occupied a room on the second floor with his family. Their escape was miraculous. Mrs. M. A. Newman, the proprietress, who had left her room a moment before the fire was discovered, had not time to recover valuables in her room, and $565 cash and many valuable papers were burned. The Lutz hotel, adjoining, and a large section of the business part of town, were saved with great difficulty. Aid was telegraphed for from Logansport and Huntington.

The loss will foot up nearly $20,000, with an insurance of $14,500, divided as follows: Home, New York, $2,000; Girard, Philadelphia, $2,000; Merchants', Jersey City, $2,000; Pennsylvania Fire, Philadelphia, $2,500; Phœnix, Brooklyn, $2,000; Fire Association, Philadelphia, $1,500; National, of Hartford, $2,500. The Lutz hotel experienced considerable damage to furniture, everything portable being carried out of the house.

SPLIT HIS SKULL.

Dave Shoemaker Murdered on Top of a Cabin Near Huntington.

HUNTINGTON, Ind., March 28.—Saturday a number of neighbors were helping a man named Cenewold to build a cabin on an island in the Wabash river, west of this city. In the evening Joseph Engleman and a man named Glick got into a fight on top of the cabin, and David Shoemaker, a farmer, climbed up to separate them. As he reached the top Engleman struck him on the forehead with a heavy wooden maul. He fell to the ground and sustained severe injuries besides a fracture of the skull from the blow. His recovery is doubtful. Engleman, who is a young man, has not yet been arrested.

The Baltimore and Ohio Deal.

NEW YORK, March 28.—The interest in the Baltimore and Ohio deal was revived to-day by the sudden departure of Frank C. Hollins for Baltimore on a special train this morning. There is strong confirmation of the reports connecting the Atchison with the deal. It is probable that the roads in which Mr. Hollins is director, with the Lake Erie and Western and the new system of which it is to form a part, will also have an interest in the Baltimore and purchase.

AT REST!

Frank B. Vogel Buried with Imposing Ceremonies Yesterday Afternoon.

Notwithstanding the disagreeable weather and recurring showers of rain and hail there was a sea of umbrellas in front of the late home of Frank B. Vogel, on Calhoun street yesterday, afternoon. The city officers, the police and firemen were in line with uncovered heads and the City band rendered a mournful dirge while the remains of the lamented chief were borne to the hearse in the presence of the vast assembly. At 3 o'clock the cortege started from the house the fire bell tolling the last run of one who so faithfully answered its shrill summons for years.

The procession moved slowly to the funeral march in the following order:

Marshal Meyer and deputies.
Captain Diehl and police posse.
City band.
Chief Hilbrecht and escort.
City officers and councilmen.
Minute men.
Alerts.
Hope Hose.
Vigilants.
Hook and Ladder Company.
Pall bearers.
Hearse.
Mr. Vogel's old horse.
Hook and ladder truck.
Carriages.

The hearse was drawn by four black horses and resting against the casket was a floral hook and ladder and a harp. Mr. Vogel's black horse, an animal he had driven for twenty years, followed after the hearse, then came the hook and ladder truck tastily decorated and dedicated "To F. B. V."

The old firemen braved the storm manfully, as did the city officers, police and active firemen, making in all 170 men in line.

At the church, Rev. S. Wagenhals conducted services and preached to a vast congregation, referring feelingly in the course of his discourse to the honored dead. After the church ceremonies the procession proceeded west on Wayne to Griffith, passing en ronte the residence of Mrs. Barney Phillips, from a west window of which Mr. Vogel's aged and invalid mother viewed the cortege. She was supported in an arm chair and the sad thought of the venerable lady bidding a tearful adieu to her son, moved many a man to tears, while women wept aloud at so affecting a sight.

Approaching the scene, the gentlemen in line raised their hats as a mark of respect, and Mrs. Vogel, feeble as she was, bowed her acknowledgments and thanked the friends of her son, no doubt, from a heart full of gratitude.

The procession proceeded all the way to Lindenwood and there all that is mortal of Frank B. Vogel rests in peace.

REPORT OF CITY ATTORNEY.

To the Honorable the Mayor and Common Council.

I respectfully report:—

1st. That the claim of Charles Thurman for $2.50 is correct and should be paid.

2nd. I have received a demand for $8.30 from the clerk of the United States supreme court, his costs in case of R. D. Wood vs. city. This sum should be paid to save any further expense.

3rd. In the matter of property owners' warning through counsel Contractor Hortsman from proceeding to build abutments for sidewalks on Wells street, I report that this matter ought not to come before this council. The contractor should consult his own lawyer as to his rights and to the manner in which he will comply with his contract with the city. Contractors have many similar questions and they should seek the advice of their own lawyers.

Henry Colerick, City Attorney.

On motion of Mr Wessel the report was concurred in and the clerk instructed to pay.

REPORT OF CITY TREASURER.

To the Honorable Mayor and Common Council:

I hereby respectfully ask your honorable body to authorize some officer or committee to settle all claims against bank stocks for bona fide indebtedness claimed. There are only three weeks left in which to pay taxes due this spring, and as most of the holders of National bank stock are ready to pay, it will be necessary to have this matter so arranged as not to delay the collection of taxes. H. C. Berghoff, City Treasurer.

On motion of Mr. Michael the above communiasation was referred to the committee on assessment and taxes and city attorney with power to act.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON PUBLIC GROUNDS AND BUILDINGS.

To His Honor the Mayor and Common Council:

We, your committee on public grounds and buildings, respectfully report in reference to the petition of Mrs. A. M. Dawson, asking this council to pay half of the division fence between the city property and her own on Spy Run avenue, having examined the same, we find that Mr. Studor. the former tenant of Mrs. Dawson, put up the fence around the city lot at his own expense, and therefore we believe this city ought not to pay for the division fence as prayed for, on account the city never fenced it herself. We therefore report adverse.

Chas. F. Haiber, C. Tresselt, Levi Griffith, } Com.

On motion of Mr. Griffith the above report was concurred in,

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON PUBLIC IMPROVEMENTS.

To His Honor, the Mayor, and Common Council:

We, your committee on public improvements, submit the following report:

In reference to resolution of Councilman Kensill, we visited the premises, No. 104 Madison street, and find the lot upon which the house is situated to be considerably lower than the sidewalk or street, the house complained of having settled in ground, thereby causing the sills and joists to become rotten and allowing the building to become twisted in different shapes, a part of the siding being loose and some of the windows being broken, the floors in bad condition from exposure to dampness; we find the building as a whole in a dilapidated condition, all of which we respectfully report.

P. J. Sobeid, Levi Griffith, H. A. Read, } Com.

On motion of Mr. Griffith, the above report was concurred in.

port against such permission. The power to grant or withhold such permit is fully vested in the council and cannot be examined into by any other tribunal, if fairly and honorably exercised. Our reasons for withholding any such permit are: First, because 160 resident taxpayers and voters of said ward have prayed the council not to grant such permit. Second, because Concordia college, a large institution of learning with many students in attendance, is closely situated to said proposed rendering establishment, and we are informed that it would necessarily ruin the property as such to have such rendering establishment in its immediate neighborhood. Third, because Daniel Falls and others seeking similar permits, have been refused. Respectfully submitted.

To the Honorable the Mayor and Common Council.

We your committee on bridges with mayor and attorney report that we have consulted with some of the owners of the feeder canal with reference to the building of a stone arch in said feeder at its intersection with Wells street and report that the owners are not willing to have such arch placed therein except in such manner as to in no wise interfere with the flow. This would be of greater expense than would be justified. We are of the opinion that they will not offer any objection to the erection of any kind of a bridge that will give free and full passage over said canal and we therefore ask until next meeting to report further.

That Tired Feeling

Afflicts every one in the spring. The system having become accustomed to the bracing air of winter, is weakened by the warm days of the changing season, and readily yields to attacks of disease. Hood's Sarsaparilla is just the medicine needed. It tones and builds up every part of the body, and also expels all impurities from the blood. Try it this season.

THE following private letter, written to E. J. Bok, of Brooklyn, contains Mr. Beecher's own account of his life in condensed form:

PEEKSKILL, N. Y., August 18, 1885.

My Dear Mr. Bok, or Boc, or Bock, or Anything but Bock Beer:

The account you have kindly sent me of my "first sermon" is more nearly true than most stories that are circulated of me. My brother George wished to be away a Sunday, and I was requested by him to supply his pulpit. Text, sermon, and all attendant circumstances are gone from my memory, except the greenness—no doubt about that.

My earliest remembered address was given at Brattleboro, Vt., on temperance, when I was in my junior year at Amherst College. But my earliest remembered sermons were delivered at Northbridge, Mass., where I taught school for three months in 1831. I conducted conference meeting almost every night, and a temperence address at Upton, Mass., where "Old Father Wood" was pastor, and in his church. In the winter of 1833 I taught school in Hopkinton, Mass., and carried on revival meetings every night and preached on Sundays. The people were plain and simple, and liked the effusions. During the winter of 1833 I again taught school at Northbridge and made a formal sermon in a chapel over the new store built by the Messrs. Whitins. Thence I went to Lane Seminary, near Cincinnati, and preached in small places. When, in 1837, I was ready to leave the seminary, I went over to Covington, Ky., and preached in the Presbyterian Church for several Sundays, and expected to form a church there and remain, but a call from Lawrenceburg, Ind., was made, and I was soon settled there for two years and over; thence to Indianapolis for eight years, and October, 1847, I came to Brooklyn. I have been preaching over fifty years. My next and last call and settlement will probably be in Greenwood. Cordially yours, HENRY WARD BEECHER.

To Edward W. Bok, Brooklyn.

Everybody knows that the best remedy known for coughs, colds etc, is Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

An Invaluable remedy.—I have found Salvation Oil an invaluable remedy for chapped hands. J. E. ESTEP, (painter,) 51 Robert St., Balto., Md.

MISS ANNA DICKINSON is slowly recovering her health. According to a correspondent she has entreaties for plays from two well-known stars, for a novel form a New York publisher, and for several magazine articles.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Combines, in a proportion peculiar to itself, the active medicinal properties of the best blood-purifying and strengthening remedies of the vegetable kingdom. It will positively cure—when in the power of medicine—Spring Debility, Headache, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Salt Rheum, Scrofula, and all Diseases caused by a low state of the blood.

"I suffered three years with blood poison. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, and think I am cured." MRS. M. J. DAVIS, Brockport, N. Y.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla beats all others, and is worth its weight in gold." I. BARRINGTON, 130 Bank Street, New York City.

Is so vastly superior to any other sarsaparilla or blood purifier, that one has well said: "Its health-giving effects upon the blood and entire human organism, are as much more positive than the remedies of a quarter of a century ago, as the steam-power of to-day is in advance of the slow and laborious drudgery of years ago."

"While suffering from a severe bilious attack in March, 1883, a friend in Peoria, Ill., recommended Hood's Sarsaparilla. I tried the remedy, and was permanently cured." J. A. SHEPARD, travelling agent for Devoe & Co., Fulton Street, N. Y.

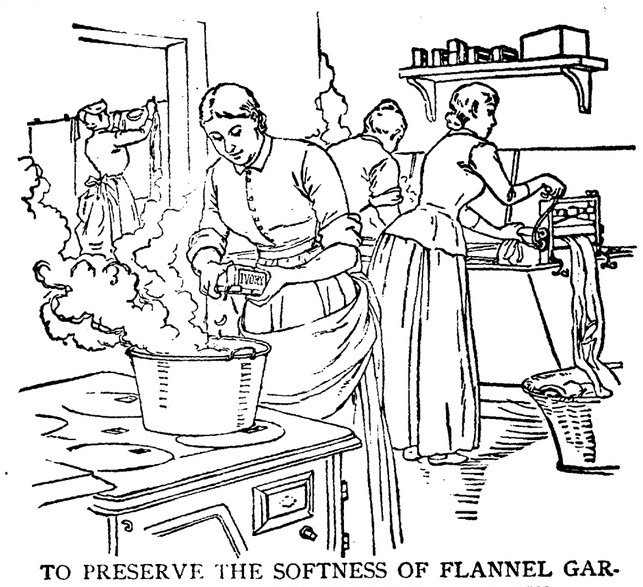
THE MASONS

Organize a Lodge of Perfection and Pay Their Respects to Colonel Frambes.

The Scottish Rite Masons of Fort Wayne have organized a lodge of perfection, under a charter granted by the supreme council of the northern masonic jurisdiction of the United States. The lodge has forty charter members, including Judge Allen Zollars, John H. Bass, George W. Pixley, Gen. Sam B. Sweet, Hon. R. C. Bell, Joe Bell, Col. C. A. Munson, John Lillie, Dr. Geo. W. Loag, W. W. Rockhill, C. B. Stemen, G. F. Wing, James Rogers, Joseph Gruber, Dr. J. S. Gregg, John Humphrey, Col. F. F. Boltz, Joseph Willard, R. B. Green, C. B. Oakley, A. D. Cressler, A. Hattersley, R. T. McDonald and others.

The gentlemen tell us to say that they do not recognize the Colonel Frambes jurisdiction recently established here and the colonel will be heard from.

A CURIOUS incident occurred not long ago in one of the Established churches near Birmingham, Eng. The collections had always been taken in boxes at the church door. On that day, however, the presence of the Bishop, and the special nature of the collection, suggested to the rector that it would be better to adopt the more modern practice of a pew-to-pew collection. He therefore beckoned the clerk, just as the Bishop was ascending the pulpit, and told him to fetch two silver salvers from the rectory, to hand them round at the close of the service and afterward take them to the Bishop. The housemaid not unnaturally concluded that the clergy needed refreshment, and thus it came about that the clerk, after handing two plates of biscuits down the aisle, presented them to the Bishop, audibly remarking that nobody would have any.



TO PRESERVE THE SOFTNESS OF FLANNEL GARMENTS, FOLLOW CAREFULLY THESE DIRECTIONS FOR WASHING.

Dissolve thoroughly in boiling water some IVORY SOAP, shaved fine. Add sufficient warm water to wash the flannels in one by one.

Don't rub any soap on the flannels, but knead them well in the solution.

Don't rinse them in plain water, use a fresh supply of the solution, warm and well blued, for the purpose.

Don't wring tightly with the hands, use a clothes-wringer. The freer from water you get these garments the softer they will be.

Hang them out immediately, if the weather will permit; if not, dry before the fire. If left to stand wet, the flannel will certainly shrink.

Never wash flannel in water too hot to bear your hand in.

Never rinse them in cold water.

Always use IVORY SOAP, it is the best, much experience has proved this.

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

Artists' Models in Position.

Shifts are usually employed to help artists' models in difficult positions, and often display considerable ingenuity. Zoffany's celebrated figure of the "Academy Life School" in 1770 shows how the model's uplifted arm was supported by a string from the ceiling, as it would be now; for instance, in Mr. Birch's "Last Call," the falling horseman is "hung in chains," suspended from the rafters in a position he could not otherwise assume. "The Headlong Fall of Lucifer" has, ere now, been painted with the model standing in a suitable attitude on a mirror, the necessary appearance of foreshortening being obtained from the reflection. "Young Bacchus" has been kept vivacious and laughing for hours by an assistant shooting sweetmeats into his open mouth, while an expression of wondering and complacent admiration has been planted on "Galatea's" face by the simple expedient of placing a looking glass for her to gaze into.—The Argonaut.

Talking with the Deaf.

It does not become a stranger to do all the talking. I sat down by an aged man the other day—a very aged man—and it did me good to answer his earnest questions about old Georgia. He was very deaf, and I had to get close to his ear and talk loud, very loud, but I did not get wearied, for it was such a boon to him. I have often thought that we were not as considerate as we should be of the pleasure of those who cannot hear. They are so conscious of their misfortune and so timidly reluctant to impose themselves upon others that I am drawn to them and give them as much time as I can spare. A little talk goes a long way with one who is deaf. He is grateful, and he enjoys it and goes away pondering in his mind what you have told him. Even the sound of your voice is treasured by him. Deaf men are almost universally honest and sincere, and they are kind and generous.—Bill Arp in Atlanta Constitution.

If the liver and kidneys are sluggish and inactive, Hood's Sarsaparilla will rouse them to prompt and regular action. Take it now.

Some Strange Literary Likings.

Rev. Dr. Hale's remarks on the influence of books in the formation of character call to mind the strange literary likings of some celebrated men. Napoleon read and re-read "The Sorrows of Werther." In the sands of Egypt, in the mud of Poland, on the banks of the Danube or those of the Vistula, he carried that hypersentimental volume with him and almost memorized it. He delighted Goethe by narrating how he had treasured the little copy he first bought, and how he had read it aloud to an admiring group of officers in the shadow of the pyramids. Napoleon liked very different books, the romances of Restif de la Bretonne, and had a marked predilection for theological treatises as well. Goethe loved "The Vicar of Wakefield," and Cowper, the hymn writer, a child in purity of life and thought, who would have shrunk from a Tom Jones as from pollution, yet delighted in the history of Joseph Andrews. The question is, were any of these men greatly influenced by what they read, or did they possess dual natures, one of which insisted on being satisfied? Anybody who chooses may answer this question.—Boston Transcript.

The Gypsies as Musicians.

As far back as the gypsies can tell anything about themselves they have been a wandering people. In Hungary the musicians are the highest class of Romanies, and are needed on all occasions. Everybody loves music there, and no christening, wedding or funeral would be complete without it. The pieces most liked are those of gypsy origin; we call them czardases. The musicians learn only by ear, and practice by following a leader bit by bit through the entire piece until they have memorized it. The orchestras are made up mostly of violins, with a couple of clarionets and the cymbals—a harp like instrument that lies flat on a table and is struck by the player with two small sticks. Such bands wander all over Europe and parts of Asia and Africa, and everywhere they find their Romany brothers speaking the Romany language. Of course it is different in every country, but we can always understand one another. Before I learned English or French I could speak intelligently with English or French gypsies.—Globe-Democrat Interview.

The Chameleon's Coloration.

But of all the parti colored reptiles the chameleon is by far the best known, and on the whole the most remarkable for his inconstancy of coloration. Like a lacertine Vicar of Bray, he varies incontinently from buff to blue, and from blue back to orange again, under stress of circumstances. The mechanism of this curious change is extremely complex. Tiny corpuscles of different pigments are sometimes hidden in the depths of the chameleon's skin, and sometimes spread out on its surface in an interlacing network of brown or purple. In addition to this prime coloring matter, however, the animal also possesses a normal yellow pigment and a bluish layer in the skin which acts like the iridium glass so largely employed by Dr. Salviati, being seen as straw colored with a transmitted light, but assuming a faint lilac tint against an opaque absorbent surface. While sleeping the chameleon becomes almost white in the shade, but if light falls upon him he slowly darkens by an automatic process.—Cornhill Magazine.

Test for the Best Ivory.

There is a fact but little known which well illustrates the ravages ratsean inflict on a hard substance by their little, sharp teeth. Many of the elephants' tusks imported into London are found to have their surfaces grooved into small furrows of unequal length and depth, as though cut out by a very sharp edged instrument. No man would take the trouble to do this so carefully, but the rat has found out the tusks which contain the most gelatine—a most delicious morsel for his palate—and he gnaws away as much as suits him and leaves the rest for the ivory worker, who is neither unable nor unwilling to profit by the fact marked by the rat's teeth. The ivory which contains a large amount of gelatine is softer and more elastic than that which does not, and as elasticity is the thing needful for billiard balls, he selects this rat-gnawed ivory, and turns it into beautiful elastic spheres, to be used upon the finest billiard tables. The elasticity of some of these balls is so great that, when thrown forcibly on a hard floor, they will rebound to the height of three or four feet. —Boston Herald.

A Government Clerk's Penmanship.

The most accomplished penwoman or penman among the 15,000 and more government clerks is Mrs. Helen M. Avery, of the interior department. Her chirography is a model of uniformity and clearness. She is also a clever pen and ink artist. A head of Tasso drawn by her a few years ago is said by connoisseurs to be equal to the finest steel engraving. She does her work rapidly, and apparently without effort. Her duties occupy about two hours a day. The rest of the time she occupies she chooses. Her position in the department is supposed to be as near an approach to a life tenure as the most successful government employe can hope to obtain. Her salary is $1,000 per annum. —Boston Transcript.

The Englishman's Way.

The English take their pleasures sadly," somebody remarked once, and the saying has passed into a proverb which the Englishmen themselves appear to accept. I think it is very untrue. It is like Sydney Smith's libel on the Scottish race. It requires no surgical operation to get a joke into a Scotchman's head. He may not roar till the hills echo, nor shout a person who will not laugh with him, as they do in Texas, but his quiet enjoyment of a good joke is none the less appreciative on that account. I am beginning to think that the English know how to enjoy themselves better than almost any other nation. An Englishman doesn't make an exhibition of his enjoyment. —Luke Sharp in Detroit Free Press.

Deservedly popular. We mean Dr. Ball's Cough Syrup for it never fails to cure a cough. Only 25 cts.

DYNAMITE!

Will Avenge the Wrongs on Ireland if the British Pass the Coercion Bill.

NEW YORK, March 28.—The Tribune says: "The proclamation by Judge Fitzgerald, president of the Irish National league of America, published yesterday, ostensibly an appeal for money to help along the Parnellite mode of warfare, is thought by many to be really a call to arms and a distinct threat that preparations will be made on a large scale to carry out the work of dynamite explosions, which was the order of the day two years ago in London and other large centres of English population. If Irish sentiment, both here and at Brooklyn, is to be believed, there will soon be the beginning of a time of 'blood and thunder' in England, should the coercion act be passed by parliament. The English advanced Irish nationalists met last evening at the house of Wm. J. Knoud. Mr. Knoud presided. He said 'that while Parnell may be an able man his usefulness has reached its limit, and the work of the Irish nationalists henceforth must be revolution with dynamite or other force that will help to paralyze the oppressors of our county (applause). We will fight England with dynamite, poison, knives, fire and every weapon the ingenuity of man can devise, if, of course, the coercion bill be passed. Do you know that this continued persecution of Ireland has made dynamiters of moderate men?"

A BIG FIRE.

Memphis Visited by a Very Disastrous Conflagration.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 28.—A fire which originated in the cellar of L. Benhoff & Co.'s second hand furniture store, 195 Main street, destroyed that building with Ullathorn & Co.'s seed store, Wm. Quinn's boarding house and saloon and Jas. Carney's Tivoli Garden, valued at about $85,000. The stocks of goods are placed at $15,000. There were many narrow escapes by inmates who occupied the upper stories.

THE ANARCHISTS!

Give the Columbus Mayor Their Opinion on Free Speech and Its Privileges.

NEW YORK, March 28.—"Not as wild anarchists, but as peaceable workingmen protecting the right of free speech and free assembly," said the Central Labor union, in Clarendon hall, yesterday afternoon, when it endorsed a series of resolutions presented by the miscellaneous trades section, in which it protested against the refusal of Mayor Wolcott, of Columbus, Ohio, to permit Mrs. Parsons the right of free speech when she intended to publicly defend her husband and the other men in prison in Chicago. A copy of the resolution will be sent to the Columbus Trades assembly.

A CAVE-IN.

The Surface of the Delaware & Hudson Mines Settles Four Feet.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., March 28.—A cave-in occurred over the workings of the Delaware & Hudson company's mines, last night, and the ground settled about four feet. Several pieces of property in the vicinity were greatly damaged. Cracks eighteen inches in width can be seen on the surface and there are indications that there will be another and more serious cave-in before many days. The wells in the vicinity of the accident are reported dry this morning.

A New Chicago Convention Called for.

CHICAGO, March 28.—Henry Stuckart, candidate for city clerk on the democratic ticket, has followed the lead of Mayor Harrison and McAvoy and declines to accept the nomination tendered to him. He demands a new convention to be called and it is claimed this will be done and a new ticket placed in the field.

At a joint meeting of the democratic county and city commissioners a resolution was adopted calling a convention Tuesday to nominate a new ticket, the convention to be composed of the same delegates who a week ago nominated Harrison, McAvoy and Stuckart.

The committee of twenty-five of the united labor party has decided to make no fusion with the democracy, but to consider the republican ticket as the only opposition to be encountered.

PRISON FIRE.

The Work Shop Buildings Inside the Jackson Prison Walls Burned Down.

JACKSON, March 28.—Fire was discovered in the four-story building inside the prison walls at 10 o'clock last night, used by the Webster contract for a paint shop. It is supposed to have originated by spontaneous combustion. The building was completely destroyed with all its contents. The north end of the long two-story building on the west side was also nearly destroyed. As soon as the fire was discovered extra guards were placed inside the cell blocks and every precaution taken to prevent a stampede of prisoners. They, however, remained quiet, very few leaving their bunks. It is impossible to estimate the damage yet.

Sparks from the prison fire caught in the old cattle and sheep sheds on the fair ground, and all on the north side of the grounds burned. They were mostly old, dilapidated structures and the damage was slight.

A block of frame buildings at Avoca, N. Y., valued at $75,000, were early yesterday morning destroyed by fire.

The amount which he is accused of taking is about $8,000, but it is understood that nearly $60,000 has been stolen from the company by some one within the past few years, and sensational developments are expected.

INDIANAPOLIS, March 28.—Only one saloon man attempted to violate the law and he was arrested twice by the police who watched every grog shop.

FIRE AT WABASH.

The Tremont House Entirely Destroyed —Narrow Escape of the Guests.

WABASH, March 28.—At an early hour yesterday morning the Tremont hotel, a three story substantial brick structure, was totally destroyed by fire. The flames originated in a sitting room occupied by the servant girls. The inmates had barely time to escape with their lives, so rapid was the progress of the flames. In ten minutes the fire swept through the building. A portion of the furniture was saved with difficulty. Several of the guests escaped by ladders, as egress was cut off below.

Calvin Zell, of the firm of Gibson & Company, Walnut street, Cincinnati, occupied a room on the second floor with his family. Their escape was miraculous. Mrs. M. A. Newman, the proprietress, who had left her room a moment before the fire was discovered, had not time to recover valuables in her room, and $363 cash and many valuable papers were burned. The Lutz hotel, adjoining, and a large section of the business part of town, were saved with great difficulty. Aid was telegraphed for from Logansport and Huntington.

The loss will foot up nearly $20,000, with an insurance of $14,500, divided as follows: Home, New York, $2,000; Girard, Philadelphia, $2,000; Merchants', Jersey City, $2,000; Pennsylvania Fire, Philadelphia, $2,500; Phœnix, Brooklyn, $2,000; Fire Association, Philadelphia, $1,500; National, of Hartford, $2,500. The Lutz hotel experienced considerable damage to furniture, everything portable being carried out of the house.

SPLIT HIS SKULL.

Dave Shoemaker Murdered on Top of a Cabin Near Huntington.

HUNTINGTON, Ind., March 28.—Saturday a number of neighbors were helping a man named Geneweld to build a cabin on an island in the Wabash river, west of this city. In the evening Joseph Engleman and a man named Glick got into a fight on top of the cabin, and David Shoemaker, a farmer, climbed up to separate them. As he reached the top Engleman struck him on the forehead with a heavy wooden maul. He fell to the ground and sustained severe injuries besides a fracture of the skull from the blow. His recovery is doubtful. Engleman, who is a young man, has not yet been arrested.

The Baltimore and Ohio Deal.

NEW YORK, March 28.—The interest in the Baltimore and Ohio deal was revived to-day by the sudden departure of Frank C. Hollins for Baltimore on a special train this morning. There is strong confirmation of the reports connecting the Atchison with the deal. It is probable that the roads in which Mr. Hollins is director, with the Lake Erie and Western and the new system of which it is to form a part, will also have an interest in the Baltimore and purchase.

AT REST!

Frank B. Vogel Buried with Imposing Ceremonies Yesterday Afternoon.

Notwithstanding the disagreeable weather and recurring showers of rain and hail there was a sea of umbrellas in front of the late home of Frank B. Vogel, on Calhoun street yesterday, afternoon. The city officers, the police and firemen were in line with uncovered heads and the City band rendered a mournful dirge while the remains of the lamented chief were borne to the hearse in the presence of the vast assembly. At 3 o'clock the cortege started from the house the fire bell tolling the last run of one who so faithfully answered its shrill summons for years.

The procession moved slowly to the funeral march in the following order:

Marshal Meyer and deputies.
Captain Diehl and police posse.
City band.
Chief Hitzrecht and escort.
City officers and councilmen.
Minute men.
Alerts.
Hope Hose.
Vigilants.
Hook and Ladder Company.
Pall bearers.
Hearse.
Mr. Vogel's old horse.
Hook and ladder truck.
Carriages.

The hearse was drawn by four black horses and resting against the casket was a floral hook and ladder and a harp. Mr. Vogel's black horse, an animal he had driven for twenty years, followed after the hearse, then came the hook and ladder truck tastily decorated and dedicated "To F. B. V."

The old firemen braved the storm manfully, as did the city officers, police and active firemen, making in all 170 men in line.

At the church, Rev. S. Wogenhals conducted services and preached to a vast congregation, referring feelingly in the course of his discourse to the honored dead. After the church ceremonies the procession proceeded west on Wayne to Griffith, passing en route the residence of Mrs. Barney Phillips, from a west window of which Mr. Vogel's aged and invalid mother viewed the cortege. She was supported in an arm chair and the sad thought of the venerable lady bidding a tearful adieu to her son, moved many a man to tears, while women wept aloud at so affecting a sight.

Approaching the scene, the gentlemen in line raised their hats as a mark of respect, and Mrs. Vogel, feeble as she was, bowed her acknowledgments and thanked the friends of her son, no doubt, from a heart full of gratitude.

The procession proceeded all the way to Lindenwood and there all that is mortal of Frank B. Vogel rests in peace.

REPORT OF CITY ATTORNEY.

To the Honorable the Mayor and Common Council.

I respectfully report:—

1st. That the claim of Charles Thurman for $2.60 is correct and should be paid.

2nd. I have received a demand for $8.80 from the clerk of the United States supreme court, his costs in case of R. D. Wood vs. city. This sum should be paid to save any further expense.

3rd. In the matter of property owners' warning through counsel Contractor Hortsman from proceeding to build abutments for sidewalks on Wells street, I report that this matter ought not to come before this council. The contractor should consult his own lawyer as to his rights and to the manner in which he will comply with his contract with the city. Contractions have many similar questions and they should seek the advice of their own lawyers.

Henry Colerick,
City Attorney.

On motion of Mr Wessel the report was concurred in and the clerk instructed to pay.

REPORT OF CITY TREASURER.

To the Honorable Mayor and Common Council:

I hereby respectfully ask your honorable body to authorize some officer or committee to settle all claims against bank stocks for bona fide indebtedness claimed. H. C. Berghoff,
City Treasurer.

On motion of Mr. Michael the above communication was referred to the committee on assessment and taxes and city attorney with power to act.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON PUBLIC GROUNDS AND BUILDINGS.

To His Honor the Mayor and Common Council:

We, your committee on public grounds and buildings, respectfully report in reference to the petition of Mrs. A. M. Dawson, asking this council to pay half of the division fence between the city property and her own on Spy Run avenue, having examined the same, we find that Mr. Studor, the former tenant of Mrs. Dawson, put up the fence around the city lot at his own expense, and therefore we believe this city ought not to pay for the division fence as prayed for, on account the city never fenced it himself. We therefore report adverse.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON PUBLIC IMPROVEMENTS.

To His Honor, the Mayor, and Common Council:

We, your committee on public improvements, submit the following report:

In reference to resolution of Councilman Kensill, we visited the premises, No. 104 Madison street, and find the lot upon which the house is situated to be considerably lower than the sidewalk or street, the house complained of having settled in ground, thereby causing the sills and joists to become rotten and allowing the building to become twisted in different shapes, a part of the siding being loose and some of the windows being broken, the floors in bad condition from exposure to dampness; we find the building as a whole in a dilapidated condition, all of which we respectfully report.

port against such permission. The power to grant or withhold such permission is fully vested in the council and cannot be examined into by any other tribunal, if fairly and honorably exercised. Our reasons for withholding any such permit are: First, because 160 resident taxpayers and voters of said ward have prayed the council not to grant such permit. Second, because Concordia college, a large institution of learning with many students in attendance, is closely situated to said proposed rendering establishment, and we are informed that it would necessarily ruin the property as such to have such rendering establishment in its immediate neighborhood. Third, because Daniel Falls and others seeking similar permits, have been refused. Respectfully submitted.

That Tired Feeling

Afflicts every one in the spring. The system having become accustomed to the bracing air of winter, is weakened by the warm days of the changing season, and readily yields to attacks of disease. Hood's Sarsaparilla is just the medicine needed. It tones and builds up every part of the body, and also expels all impurities from the blood. Try it this season.

The following private letter, written to E. J. Huk, of Brooklyn, contains Mr. Beecher's own account of his life in condensed form:

PEEKSKILL, N. Y., August 18, 1855.

My Dear Mr. Bok, or Boc, or Bock, or Anything but Book Dear:

The account you have kindly sent me of my "first sermon" is more nearly true than most stories that are circulated of me. My brother George wished to be away a Sunday, and I was requested by him to supply his pulpit. Text, sermon, and all attendant circumstances are gone from my memory, except the greenness—no doubt about that.

My earliest remembered address was given at Brattleboro, Vt., on temperance, when I was in my junior year at Amherst College. But my earliest remembered sermons were delivered at Northbridge, Mass., where I taught school for three months in 1831. I conducted conference meeting almost every night, and a temperance address at Upton, Mass., where Will Father Wood* was pastor, and in his church. In the winter of 1832 I taught school in Hopkinton, Mass., and carried on revival meetings every night and preached on Sundays. The people were plain and simple, and liked the drusians. During the winter of 1833 I again taught school at Northbridge and made a formal sermon in a chapel over the new store built by the Messrs. Whitins. Thence I went to Lane Seminary, near Cincinnati, and preached in small places. When, in 1837, I was ready to leave the seminary, I went over to Covington, Ky., and preached in the Presbyterian Church for several Sundays, and expected to form a church there and remain, but a call from Lawrenceburg, Ind., was made, and I was soon settled there for two years and over; thence to Indianapolis for eight years, and October, 1847, I came to Brooklyn. I have been preaching over fifty years. My next and last call and settlement will probably be in Greenwood. Cordially yours, HENRY WARD BEECHER.

Is so vastly superior to any other sarsaparilla or blood purifier, that one has well said: "Its health-giving effects upon the blood and entire human organism, are as much more positive than the remedies of a quarter of a century ago, as the steam-power of to-day is in advance of the slow and laborious drudgery of years ago."

"While suffering from a severe bilious attack in March, 1883, a friend in Peoria, Ill., recommended Hood's Sarsaparilla. I tried the remedy, and was permanently cured." J. A. Sheppard, travelling agent for Devoe & Co., Fulton Street, N. Y.

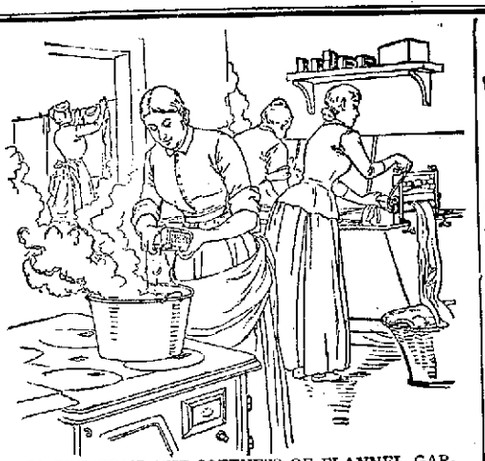
THE MASONS

Organize a Lodge of Perfection and Pay Their Respects to Colonel Frambes.

The Scottish Rite Masons of Fort Wayne have organized a lodge of perfection, under a charter granted by the supreme council of the northern masonic jurisdiction of the United States. The lodge has forty charter members, including Judge Allen Zollars, Sam B. Bass, George W. Pixley, Geu. Sam B. Sweet, Hon. R. C. Bell, Joe Bell, Col. C. A. Munson, John Lillie, Dr. Geo. W. Long, W. W. Rockhill, C. B. Stetson, G. F. Wing, James Rogers, Joseph Graber, Dr. J. S. Gregg, John Humphrey, Col. F. F. Bottz, Joseph Willard, R. B. Green, C. B. Oakley, A. D. Crossler, A. Battersley, R. T. McDonald and others.

The gentlemen tell us to say that they do not recognize the Colonel Frambes jurisdiction recently established here and the colonel will be heard from.

A curious incident occurred not long ago in one of the Established churches near Birmingham, Eng. The collections had always been taken in boxes at the church door. On that day, however, the presence of the Bishop, and the special nature of the collection, suggested to the rector that it would be better to adopt the more modern practice of a pew-to-pew collection. He therefore beckoned the clerk, just as the Bishop was ascending the pulpit, and told him to fetch two silver salvers from the vestory, to hand them round at the close of the service and afterward take them to the Bishop. The housemaid not unnaturally concluded that the clergy needed refreshment, and thus it came about that the clerk, after handing two plates of biscuits down the aisle, presented them to the Bishop, audibly remarking that nobody would have any.



TO PRESERVE THE SOFTNESS OF FLANNEL GARMENTS, FOLLOW CAREFULLY THESE DIRECTIONS FOR WASHING.

Dissolve thoroughly in boiling water some IVORY SOAP, shaved fine. Add sufficient warm water to wash the flannels in one by one.

Don't rub any soap on the flannels, but knead them well in the solution.

Don't rinse them in plain water, use a fresh supply of the solution, warm and well blued, for the purpose.

Don't wring tightly with the hands, use a clothes-wringer. The freer from water you get these garments the softer they will be.

Hang them out immediately, if the weather will permit; if not, dry before the fire. If left to stand wet, the flannel will certainly shrink.

Never wash flannel in water too hot to bear your hand in.

Never rinse them in cold water.

Always use IVORY SOAP, it is the best, much experience has proved this.

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

Artists' Models in Position.

Shifts are usually employed to help artists' models in difficult positions, and often display considerable ingenuity. Zoffany's celebrated figure of the "Academy Life School" in 1770 shows how the model's uplifted arm was supported by a string from the ceiling, as it would be now; for instance, in Mr. Birch's "Last Call," the falling horseman is "hung in chains," suspended from the rafters in a position he could not otherwise assume. "The Headlong Fall of Lucifer" has, ere now, been painted with the model standing in a suitable attitude on a mirror, the necessary appearance of foreshortening being obtained from the reflection. "Young Bacchus" has been kept vivacious and laughing for hours by an assistant shooting sweetmeats into his open mouth, while an expression of wondering and complacent admiration has been planted on "Gabriel's" face by the simple expedient of placing a looking glass for her to gaze into.—The Argonaut.

Talking with the Deaf.

It does not become a stranger to do all the talking. I sat down by an aged man the other day—a very aged man—and it did me good to answer his earnest questions about old Georgia. He was very deaf, and I had to get close to his ear and talk loud, very loud, but I did not get wearied, for it was such a boon to him. I have often thought that we were not as considerate as we should be of the pleasure of those who cannot hear. They are so conscious of their misfortune and so timidly reluctant to impose themselves upon others that I am drawn to them and give them as much time as I can spare. A little talk goes a long way with one who is deaf. He is grateful, and he enjoys it and goes away pondering in his mind what you have told him. Even the sound of your voice is treasured by him. Deaf men are almost universally honest and sincere, and they are kind and generous.—Bill Arp in Atlanta Constitution.

If the liver and kidneys are sluggish and inactive, Hood's Sarsaparilla will rouse them to prompt and regular action. Take it now.

Some Strange Literary Likings.

Rev. Dr. Hale's remarks on the influence of books in the formation of character call to mind the strange literary likings of some celebrated men. Napoleon read and re-read "The Sorrows of Werther." In the sands of Egypt, in the mud of Poland, on the banks of the Danube or those of the Vistula, he carried that hypersentimental volume with him and almost memorized it. He delighted Goethe by narrating how he had treasured the fifth copy he first bought, and how he had read it aloud to an admiring group of officers in the shadow of the pyramids. Napoleon liked very different books, the romances of Restif de la Bretonne, and had a marked predilection for theological treatises as well. Goethe loved "The Vicar of Wakefield," and Cowper, the hymn writer, a child in purity of life and thought, who would have shrunk from a Tom Jones as from pollution, yet delighted in the history of Joseph Andrews. The question is, were any of these men greatly influenced by what they read, or did they possess dual natures, one of which indulged on being satisfied? Anybody who chooses may answer this question.—Boston Transcript.

The Gypsies as Musicians.

As far back as the gypsies can tell anything about themselves they have been a wandering people. In Hungary the musicians are the highest class of Romanies, and are needed on all occasions. Everybody loves music there, and no christening, wedding or funeral would be complete without it. The pieces most liked are those of gypsy origin; we call them czardases. The musicians learn only by ear, and practice by following a leader bit by bit through the entire piece until they have memorized it. The orchestras are made up mostly of violins, with a couple of clarionets and the cymbals—a harp like instrument that lies flat on a table and is struck by the player with two small sticks. Such bands wander all over Europe and parts of Asia and Africa, and everywhere they find their Romany brothers speaking the Romany language. Of course it is different in every country, but we can always understand one another. Before I learned English or French I could speak intelligently with English or French gypsies.—Globe-Democrat Interview.

The Chameleon's Coloration.

But of all the parti colored reptiles the chameleon is by far the best known, and on the whole the most remarkable for his inconstancy of coloration. Like a kaleidoscope view of Bray, he varies incontinently from buff to blue, and from blue back to orange again, under stress of circumstances. The mechanism of this curious change is extremely complex. Tiny corpuscles of different pigments are sometimes hidden in the depths of the chameleon's skin, and sometimes spread out on its surface in an interlacing network of brown or purple. In addition to this prime coloring matter, however, the animal also possesses a normal yellow pigment and a bluish layer in the skin which acts like the iridium glass so largely employed by Dr. Salvati, being seen as straw colored with a transmitted light, but assuming a faint blue tint against an opaque absorbent surface. While sleeping the chameleon becomes almost white in the shade, but if light falls upon him he slowly darkens by an automatic process.—Cornhill Magazine.
